New Saturday Classes Scheduled

Dear Friends,

Just when we thought the notorious winter of 08-09 would never come to an end, hope is in sight now that we can see green buds popping out all over the place. Its been a long winter and we are ready to put it behind us and welcome in Spring with a new schedule of Saturday classes. We're still working on all the details for the full line up, but have several of them nailed down.

Our Wire Wrapped Pendant class is coming up on April 18th. In this beginning level class we'll show you how to wrap gold-filled wire on to a fused glass cabochon to make a fabulous pendant you will be proud to wear. The skills you'll learn can be adapted to wrapping beads or other items you might like to incorporate into other jewelry projects.

On May 9th we'll be having a Wild at Heart Suncatcher class. In this easy hands-on workshop, we'll be making a wild and whimsical heart suncatcher that would also make a perfect Mother's Day gift. No experience is needed for this class, but it promises to be fun and interesting for more experienced students as well. At the end of this class you'll end up with a charming piece that'll reflect your unique personality. You won't want to miss our Mosaic

The next generation of glass artists hard at work in our Kid's Mosaic Class

Stepping Stone class on May 16th. In this intermediate level class, we'll show you how to make a unique work of art for your garden. This stepping stone would make an heirloom quality Wedding gift.

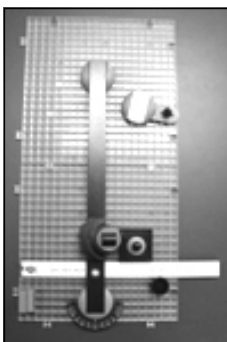

We had a great turn out for our Kid's Mosaic class, everyone had lots of fun. We are still working out all the details but wanted to let everyone know that we'll be having another Kid's class coming up in early June where we'll be making a set of woodland coasters that will make a great Fathers Day gift. All those dads and granddads out there are sure to appreciate a gift made with love by young hands. Stay tuned for more details about this class.

Thanks to all who turned out for our Second Chance Cabin Fever Sale. Many of you had indeed been snow and ice bound for our January date. Here at the shop, we are finally getting back to normal after the big push we made in getting our booth put together for the Kentucky Crafted Market in Louisville, and we are settling back into our regular routine.

In the mean time, we'll keep working on our upcoming schedule of classes, so if there is something you'd like to see us offer, just let us know.

As always,
Laura
