There's Always Something New to Learn

Dear Friends,

The shorter days and cooler weather can only mean one thing to glass artists in Central Kentucky...it's almost time for the annual Fall Madness Sale here at Hallock Stained Glass! Be sure to mark your calendar for Saturday, October 17th and make plans to stop in and stock up on everything you'll need for your upcoming holiday and winter projects. We'll have refreshments so you won't have to drop while you shop.

We get numerous requests here at the shop for bead making classes. We haven't offered them in quite some time, and while a group of students with open torches is too much, I have decided to offer them on an individual basis. You can read all the details below. If bead making is something you are interested in learning how to do, then stop by the shop or give me a call.

Our regular Beginning Class and Workshop Class will be forming the first week of October and again in November. Keep in mind, we won't have our regular classes during the month of December, so if you'd like to work a stained glass class into your plans this year, be sure to let us know.

We have our Lead Came Construction Class coming up on Wednesdays in October. If you'd like to expand your stained glass skills to include working with lead then be sure to carve some time into your schedule for this class. We won't be offering it again until next spring.

Plan to get a jump start on the holidays with our Angel Candle

Holder Class on Saturday, Nov. 7th. This angel is so charming you're sure to want to make more for gifts.

We really appreciate it when you buy all your art glass tools and supplies here at Hallock Stained Glass. By doing so you help to ensure that your local stained glass store will continue to be a place for fun and learning for many years to come.

As Always,
Laura

Now Offering Beginning Bead Making Classes

Here is how it works: Purchase a key tag for $2. Keep the tag on your key ring and every time you make a purchase* here at the shop, we will punch that amount on your key tag. When your tag is fully punched, it can then be redeemed for $20 in FREE merchandise.

When you redeem your key tag, you will also be entered into a drawing for more free merchandise.
